NATURAL
PRODUCTS

ANNOVET

A natural preparation of graviola (Annona muricata). Auxiliary product in cancer. It contains acetogenins that cause energy starvation of cells with inefficient anaerobic metabolism (cells of some tumors). In elderly animals, it increases vitality. It helps relieve stress, lowers blood pressure, and optimises blood sugar levels. It also has antibacterial and antiparasitic effects (anaerobic and protozoal infections).

USE

- (The most suitable auxiliary product for better effect is indicated in brackets)
- » Supportive therapy in cancer patients – cytostatic effects verified in tumours of mammary gland, testes, liver (Imunovet, Korovet, Regavet, Kingvet).
 - » Geriatric agent – stimulation of vitality in elderly animals (Regavet, Kingvet, Korovet).
 - » Strengthening of the immune system (Imunovet, Virovet).
 - » Antiviral and antibacterial effects (Virovet, Kingvet).
 - » Bacterial infections, including cases of pathogen resistance to antibiotics (especially anaerobic

- infections) (Imunovet, Kingvet).
 - » Reduction of microbial load in elderly animals (Probiovet).
 - » Antiparasitic effects (protozoa).
 - » Catarrh of mucous membranes (Virovet, Regavet).
 - » Colic pains, cramps – spasmolytic agent.
 - » Cardiotonic agent, it lowers high blood pressure.
 - » Optimisation of blood sugar levels.
 - » Harmonisation of the psyche – antidepressant (Korovet, Etovet).

Recommendation from a veterinarian

I like to use Annovet in elderly animals – it increases their vitality and improves their mental and physical condition. It has its place in cancer prevention and also in the therapy of certain types of tumours of the mammary glands, liver and others. It can be used in cases of intact inoperable tumors, but also as part of a complex protocol before planned surgery, when it can significantly weaken the tumor and reduce its aggressiveness.
